Sources tell TMZ... Reese was spotted wearing a white "Boogie Nights" type sweater by Bluefly.com... and Mark was wearing a fitted blue sweater, which is what Dereon, the director of "Boogie Nights," was wearing in the original movie. Mark and Reese are both making their first movie together... the film is about a suburban couple who travel to Italy to have an affair with an Italian woman... after their kids find out. The film is actually based on a play they're producing. Mark had originally financed the movie and then transferred it to Reese's production company, Reese Witherspoon Presents, and it's expected to get made in the late spring or early summer.[The power of voluntary choice: influence of hormones on sensitivity to reward and punishment in rats]. In the present experiments on male and female rats the influence of hormonal status on instrumental learning was tested. It was found that males that had been castrated, on the other hand, did not show changes in their performance in the operant conditioned avoidance task when contrasted with normal controls. No significant difference was, however, found between castrated and normal males in sensitivity to reward, i.e. the rate of trials in which the association between an instrumental response
