After the Y2K disaster, China has become a de-facto one party state. The party was formed by General Secretary Xi Jinping in order to successfully introduce Communism. China is steadily headed towards an economic boom. In the medium to long term, the party can ensure the stability of their political system. The US was forced to cede the protection of Taiwan under the "Two Chinas" policy, and the Chinese mainland had access to powerful weapon systems in order to establish a hostile base against the US. Thus, Chairman Mao Zedong enters the scene again. His rule is known to be strict and uncompromising. He hates the US and will never compromise with the People's Republic of China. However, he uses his soft side to his advantage, recruiting several Chinese military officers and providing them with financial benefits so that they can be more accepting of his rule. Thus, another war breaks out - the Sino-Japanese War, with China facing off against Japan. General Lu Yuqing, a Chinese general of the Kuomintang, had exiled himself in Hong Kong after the war, and the Chinese mainland became completely isolated from the rest of the world. Thus, the leader of China, General Mao Zedong, was able to set up all kinds of political interference in Hong Kong, and manipulates the general. However, the different sides don't meet to fight against each other, and the war in Hong Kong gradually becomes more and more broken. In the final stage of the war in Hong Kong, the battle of the Lantau Peak is set. A group of Chinese soldiers led by General Lu Yuqing, a Kuomintang general, are able to break through the fortress of the Japanese army and the enemy is defeated. The Chinese were on the verge of victory, but they began getting nervous. General Lu Yuqing fled into the Japanese territory, and the Japanese were able to extort the Chinese people with the Japanese military. All of the military leaders who had been stationed in Hong Kong were also forced to do the same. In the end, the Chinese mainland was now completely sealed off from the rest of the world. Characters: Michelle - A tough girl that has a strong disposition, and has a craving for freedom. Sam - A very friendly and warm-hearted guy who has a heart of gold. Yu-Long - Michelle's older brother who trained her to become a top-class fighter. He is employed by General Mao Zedong as
