We have loaded a custom.dat file for you to use in Builder and have placed all of our KBM files into the directory, which will simplify the process. If you are interested in testing our Builder, we have a 3.1 Build of it available. Keep in mind this is our first try at Builder, so your feedback would be greatly appreciated. You are free to use this file and the textures in whatever you want, as long as you direct people to the page you are using and the link we provided. We've added several games to Greenlight. Embers of Magic is a 2015 fantasy novel and the third in the Magicians' Guild series. It is the eighteenth book published in the series. Summary Embers of Magic is the story of Stefan and Anton and the possibility of finally breaking the Magicians' Order. The Eschaton Stefan, Anton, and Celia are on the street where the Magicians' Order has just passed by. The young boy informs the grownup men that he knows they are assassins and that they must hide their faces because they are branded with their faces. He then tells them his name is Andur Finvarrier and that they should never tell anyone their real name because he is branded as well. Stephen comes to visit Sophie, and he reminds her that Finvarrier is still alive, and that she has to find the key to the Embers of Magic. Sophie says that the key is in the strange boy Andur and that if he is really from the Unseen Islands, she should be able to talk with him. Stephan tells her that she has to keep him safe because they will get him back one way or another. The Magicians Guild Stefan, Anton, and Celia are lost on the grounds of the uninhabited lands of the Unseen Islands and need to get to the Magicians' Order and see if they can find the place that holds the key to the broken and abandoned city of Razncawat. Before they leave, Stefan explains to Anton and Celia that they cannot go to Rahab Tunic's house because they are low-level magicians and would be in danger if they went there. Stefan and Anton talk about the quest for the Key of the Embers of Magic and what happens when you find it: the stones fall, the walls close up, and the city becomes warmer or colder than it should be. Stefan tells Anton that going to Rahab's house would not work, but he does suggest that they should find the magicians to work for the Embers of Magic. Anton suggests they find their way to Rahab's through a magical map. Anton suggests that they go to the magicians in the main building of the guild. When they get there, they are told to go up to the third floor. There they meet Simon, the master of the magicians in the guild. He tells Anton and Stefan that he can show them the way to the Embers of Magic, but they must
