My question is what happened and what do I do to prevent this in the future? A: I don't know what happened here, but the first thing I would suggest would be to check the following in your

HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Run registry key. You might find that you have some existing registry key that is using (or has some process listening on) a port that is blocked by UAC. -- If that doesn't work, I would suggest that you try this: Run WinSCP. Open FileOptions\Connection Settings. Select Remote Filesystem. Click Start Transfer. Enter the following path: c:\temp\vbs.txt. Click Open. Locate and click the Browse button. Enter the following in the text field: @ECHO on Color 10 Title This computer is lost and you are its only chance Click OK. Click Save. Close WinSCP. Run the following command line:

c:\Windows\System32\cmd.exe /c "c:\Windows\System32\sc.exe" /i:"c:\temp\vbs.txt" /closeonly

Click OK and close. Click Start/Run and type regedit. Select Tools\Options, then click the General Tab. Double-click the following string: Windows Registry Editor Version 5.00 Un-check the box next to Continue on error. Click OK, OK, OK, OK, OK, OK. Locate and expand the following key:

HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Software\Classes\Local Settings\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Run Click in the Edit menu and click New. Enter the following: C:\Windows\System32\cmd.exe /c "c:\Windows\System32\sc.exe" /i:"c:\temp\vbs.txt" /closeonly Click OK, OK, OK, OK, OK, OK. Click OK, OK, OK, OK, OK, OK, OK. Right-click on the following string: HKEY_CURRENT_USER\Software\Classes\Local Settings\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Run Select Delete. Press OK, OK, OK, OK, OK, OK. 1cb139a0ed
