What's new:

! this goes for you loverthick The majority of these fans is a group of pissy losers, the majority of these fans is a group of pissy losers that missed the point and only cares about seeing stars like me and the few that have made a difference in the games we've played. And it's actually really nice to see where GH3 is today, the old forums were such a joke. Oh yeah, the GH3 board is much more comprehensive, we have more people posting, more people that actually like to watch hockey using webcam. We're all a group of JetsFans, and I'm one of the most successful ones at the same time. Oh, and don't get on my case for posting about GH3 when this blog goes to shit. I can post about it if you don't want or need me to. And for those of you that feel that it's hypocritical to call this place a Jets forum while members openly criticize the Jets when GF doesn't like the Jets because his name is Bobby, this place was named after the Jets? After when it was said that we're going to start to come back to life? Then how hypocritical is it to call a Jets-reference a Jets forum when it means we're going to start to like the Jets after what happened in GH3. So you know, I don't start praising the Jets because they're bringing back the days where a playoff win over the Blue Jays is talking about the team. Brilliant! HullKiller 03-17-2015, 09:33 AM You know, I'm glad there's such a great understanding here, You guys really make my day reading these stories and all your great takes on this shit... I feel really lucky to be a part of it all. The long AND short of it is, we are all ways never gonna like the Jets! wah wah! No one on the internet or here on the forum are going to yell at me about it. In fact, we all agree with each other more than disagree. Its just that hockey like all sports is fallible and you all feel awfully often like we are nobody important or special and that all you are capable of is knee jerk reactions, yammering to your team's failures, and scrolling through the basic things you care about with as much interest as your daily weather report. It's all very boring and glades

"Flappy Bird" is a casual game, made with the purpose of simple, addictive and fun gameplay for every age. Instructions: Tap with the screen and the bird will fly through the different obstacles. Fly through the pipes as much as possible. Do not let the bird fall to the bottom of the screen. Diet of the Game: Fires birds to go a faster than in the normal mode. Also, increases the speed of the pipes in x2, and x3. Sounds great! I am willing to help you with this project. I do not speak English very well, but if you have more questions please feel free to ask:) A: 0$? Donate to the repository. There is no programming skill involved, so donations are welcome, to help keep the project alive. What? Not enough money? There is no monetary reward. I'm just getting rid of the game for now, I'll update it later to have a bunch of in-game goods (like new skins, easter eggs, power ups etc). Why such a big cut in the game? The game is becoming too big. At about 80 turns it gets really tedious and boring. I'll release another version soon, with new features (ex: zipping through the pipes), but at the same time I'm taking a break from the project. I'll make another game that may or may not be like flappy bird. If you want to make something like this, just make it yourself - DON'T ask me to make this for you! Can I contribute too? Sure. You can contribute by leaving an answer in the comment section, make a video on youtube, make a wallpaper with a flappy bird and birds, find problems in the source code, etc...
