NI AWR Design Environment is an award-winning, interactive product-based.Q: Is G isomorphic to G/N if N is a normal subgroup of G ? I'm reading the book about abstract algebra by Rotman and I came across the following problem: Let G be a group and N be a subgroup of G satisfying $|G|=|G/N|$. Show that G is isomorphic to G/N . I was wondering is there any easier way to solve this problem? A: The claim may be false as stated. If G is a nonabelian, 3-transitive permutation group on 12 points, then G has a normal subgroup N of order 6 such that G/N is a 3-transitive permutation group on 6 points. However, in this case G and G/N are not isomorphic. Let G be a nonabelian 3-transitive permutation group on 12 points. Let A, B, C be three distinct orbits of G on 12 points. G has a normal subgroup of order 6 generated by one of the three involutions x_A, x_B, x_C . Let H be the subgroup of G generated by all three involutions, and let N be the normal subgroup generated by H . Let K be a subgroup of G of order 12 generated by two involutions in $A \cup B \cup C$. Suppose first that K contains N . Then since the 12 elements of K generate G , G has an element of order 12 and so G is cyclic. Now H is the
