If you are unable to download or stream the Q: How to create a map of maps of maps I have a data structure that I need to map the keys to sub-keys that are mapped to values. I cannot find a way to map to a large-scale map. My data is large and I have limited space (memory) to store it so using a Dictionary of List of List of X is not an option. Does anyone know of a clever way to do this? A: Dictionary>>? Q: Running some commands in bash script after running pip package installation Sorry for the rudimentary question, but I'm new to scripting and I want to set my system up such that I can just install a pip package, and have some code run after the package installation. I have the following sudo pip3 install git+ and it works, after pip I want to execute a script that looks like python3 /home/user/PyVista/PyVista.py I can't seem to get the workflow to work, any help would be appreciated! A: You can use the exitcode variable of pip: The exitcode is the exit status of the last command in the pipeline. If the exitcode is None or edd6d56e20
