I will appreciate if someone helps me out A: Your code is running into a infinite loop because your page keeps calling itself with one more param/argument. So it isn't going to stop until it hits its limit, probably because of the fix permissions... (limt=8192). You need to check for that limit and limit them to something like 3000 (5000 would be my "ideal" setting). All decisions you make in this game will have lasting consequences, in keeping with its namesake, but a game that makes every decision feel like your own....Expand I am a huge fan of strategy games, so I was really happy to see a game this good come out of the indie scene. King of Dragon Pass plays differently than most games and the decisions you make at any time directly change the course of the future of your clan, so its always interesting to see what happens next. Gameplay is simple and fun. You lead your clan, develop weapons, build defense systems and things that will affect the future of the clan. There are moments that may seem like added pressure and such, but trust me when I say its not like that. This is an amazing game that I just cannot get enough of. This is a must buy for all strategy game fans. I would really recommend this to any one that is interested in playing a simple yet incredibly addictive game. This game is the real deal. I've played strategy games since I was a kid and I've been waiting for a game like this since I finished game & war. I had to review the game but there's no point because I'm loving this game. I just wish I can wait for the dlc. I will probably download it on xbox one or for free on ps4 to so that I can play with friends. My wife got me a copy of this as a gift, and after watching the main trailer I was pleasantly surprised. It was very cute, but I didn't expect anything as awesome as this. It's definitely a bit short, but the game's presentation is absolutely stunning, and the art and animations make it great. The gameplay is just as great. I like the cartoony nature of the characters, and the weapon types are pretty cool. I just wish there were more special weapon types and more weapons in general. King of Dragon Pass looks and plays like a certain game I can't bring myself to mention, and that's a good thing....Expand This game is by far my favorite game of the year. It is almost certain that i will make this game my no.1, and will probably be my favorite game forever. This game has in-depth strategy, a beautiful cartoonish style that enhances the game and gives it a uniqueness that makes it stand out of any other game, funny characters, great story and most of all one of the best

- We are really excited to finally be releasing an official game set in the World Health Organization (WHO) Ebola Outbreak Zone! This is our way of bringing back the sense of realism and hopefully scare the ever living bejeezus out of everyone by wearing a t-shirt with face masks and garbage bags. - Get your products while you can, this is a limited edition of 100! - Also there will be limited edition content available for purchase after the game releases including a game called 'How to Make an Ebola Costume', 'How to Eat in a Browning Tree Sack' and a 'World Health Organization Minion lanyard' A new outbreak of the highly contagious, deadly virus known as "Ebola" has now hit Lagos, Nigeria, infecting 4 healthcare workers and killing one. Due to the lack of healthcare facilities in Nigeria, we must act now to travel to Ebola outbreak zone and help this new outbreak be contained, and to prevent further casualties. The Ebola Outbreak Zone game puts you in the role of a WHO EID (Epidemic Intelligence Dispatch) officer sent in to one of the most remote towns in the world to aid WHO EID officers in the containment of this deadly virus. Breathe Aire is a realistic simulation game that puts you in the shoes of a WHO EID officer. The game starts at the point where people start developing symptoms of Ebola, and you must travel hundreds of miles (yes, you get to drive your own vehicle) on a dirt road through the African rainforest to reach the town of the outbreak! The world of Ebola Outbreak Zone is not easy. Depending on the severity of the case, it may take hours or days to reach the town, and you will not only be navigating perilous roads and unfamiliar territory, but also navigating the bureaucracy of the WHO and its rules and regulations. Carrying out your duty, WHO EID, you will have to collect samples, perform healthcare on infected subjects, and cure them if possible. If not, your mission is to stop the spread of the virus as quickly as possible. Gameplay Video: Also, get a good look at the awesome EID uniforms we are working on! Playtime: - Our target is that you should be able to start playing within 4 hours of purchase. - We are working hard to get a release date for our final product in your hands! (we promise we will get

Cal State Bakersfield officials are asking students to stop using turquoise as a party decoration, because the color is not allowed. Turquoise, the color of leprechauns, is widely used as decorations at University of California, Berkeley and UCLA's athletic sites and in downtown Los Angeles, but Cal State Bakersfield officials say it's not permitted on campus. John Baron, vice president for Student Affairs, said a few years ago, a senior was convicted of partying in Cal State Bakersfield for wearing turquoise. The official requires students to dress appropriately, but added it's not a problem to wear turquoise on special occasions. Chief Public Affairs Officer Andrew Chamberlain said UC Berkeley bans wearing turquoise around campus to avoid confusion among the student body, and UCLA does not allow it as a school color. He said the university authorities base their decisions on the co-ed college student body. Chamberlain said there's been a legal definition of "university colors," and then "university apparel." "You can't wear an article of apparel that clearly identifies the school," he said. Major college football and basketball apparel, such as Nike's and Adidas' uniforms, in addition to pro athletes, wear collegiate apparel that is not publicly identified with a school, Chamberlain explained. He added that CCB does not issue any ban on "student attire," unless an article specifically says "University of California," "California State University," "California State University, Bakersfield." Chamberlain said the university's dress code is, "Modest, fashionable. It's for everyone." For the school, the color of turquoise, or any other color, is not a concern, he said. However, he explained, Turquoise is one of CSUB's official school colors, and is worn as a majority of the respective athletics teams' road jerseys and some home jerseys.
