This classic PSP game, originally released in Japan in 2003, has been updated to include various additional content, including new galleries, weapon details, background music and sounds, and social networking integration. Majin Boost X, also known as Minna Atsume In, is a remake of one of Japan's earliest internet puzzle games, Majin Boost. Majin Boost consists of seven stages, with over 25,000 puzzles to be solved. The player is required to move a character from the left edge of the screen to the right. The puzzles must be solved in order to restore some kind of background to the game, and this can be achieved by matching one of the various Majin characters, consisting of baseball, soccer, cricket, basketball, volleyball, rugby, or tennis players. The majority of the Majin Boost X puzzles have been altered in an attempt to improve the experience, with some puzzles given more weight, requiring the player to complete them to restore a particular background, and others have been completely reworked. As well as the individual puzzles, the game includes over 85 mini-games, including pick-up-and-play arcade games and quests. A second "Arcade" option provides various game types; these include classic match-3 puzzle games, logic games, and arcade racing games. This option also includes a password storage mode. Two new "Social Networking" options provide the chance to view the friends' accounts and contacts, and to contact people via messages and voice. The game also includes a "J-related" option, which combines Majin Boost and a list of over 250 characters from the Sailor Moon series. Majin Boost X is available to download for free via the PSP Store.
