Flask server handling for both multiple requests and single requests I am new to Flask and started working on a simple project where the backend is written in Flask with a user system. I am using the Flask SocketIO to connect to the browser and do some socket.io stuff there. At the moment, I have it set up to handle connection from multiple browser, no user. But my only problem is that when user do get some requests, the socket.io connection is lost and i loose the connection until someone else do a request. I would like to be able to make both situations work, but I didn't find a proper way to. This is my Flask code right now:

import os from app import app as application
app.config['SHAREDIR'] = os. path.join(os.path.dirname(__fi le__), 'conf') app.config['SQLAL LCHEMY_DATABASE_URI'] = ' mysql+mysqlconnector://user

rset=utf8' app.config['SQLAL CHEMY_TRACK_MODIFICATIO

app.config['SECRET_KEY'] =
'thisisasecretkey' app.config['
SQLALCHEMY_ECHO'] = True
app.config['USE_SQLALCHEM
