The Buffet of Arts The term "bricolage" is common to most architects. Architectural bricolage is not an entirely new concept. Anthropologists speak of the same kind of activities among the lower classes. Architectural bricolage is the actual practice of combining or re-arranging whatever is convenient in one's own design. For a given budget, an architect can choose the best quality materials out of many. No matter how intricate the structural details are, once the design is completed, one can cut, bend, crush, or drill holes in the necessary places and assemble the parts in the best way. At the end of the day, it is quite possible to put together a sturdy and yet attractive structure, which is in keeping with the purpose of the project. Our first love of building and designing is to create beautiful structures that are low maintenance and are equipped to last for a lifetime. The humble brick lends itself well to such projects. Being easy to obtain and very indigenous to the area of Punjab, even a farmer can build a good looking home by modifying a brick, which may not necessarily be the most modern and innovative design that others build. For example, Mohan Singh, a farmer from Murree, built a brick home for himself and his family of nine children after he could no longer afford bricks. The entire structure was completed in just a week. As a matter of fact, we can only think of a much later, unsung revolutionary architect who did not start from the basics. His ingenious combinations of mud and straw or even concrete reinforced with bamboo helped him design a structure which contributed to the downfall of the British.

c.Q: Executing SQL with Delete query is storing it as Query in django I am trying to delete a specific record from the table, I am passing a parameter to the view to delete it. I am using Python manage.py shell to run the script and to pass it the parameter it should get deleted. However, the query I get it as a Query and when I execute it it does not delete the record. I checked it in the DB and it is indeed deleted. I have defined the models and the view as:

class PlayerProfile(models.Model): user = models.OneToOneField(User, on_delete=models.CASCADE) first_name = models.CharField(max_length=40) last_name = models.CharField(max_length=40) address = models.CharField(max_length=100) country = models.CharField(max_length=10) city = models.CharField(max_length=20) age = models.CharField(max_length=10) gender = models.CharField(max_length=1) signup_date = models.DateField() f988f36e3a
